

SAPIENZA
UNIVERSITÀ DI ROMA

The Rome International Sostenibilia Network Seminar

Sapienza University of Rome
Dept. Communication and Social Research
Via Salaria 113, Rome

October 15th 2018 (2:30-6:30 p.m.)
October 16th 2018 (9:30-13:00 and 3:00-6:00 p.m.)

The first edition of the Rome International Sostenibilia Network Seminar opens the annual Roman meeting of the scholars from the world who contribute to the new theories for the sustainability and the digital networks with a debate about their last researches.

Speakers

Derrick De Kerchove, Un. de Toronto, (Canada)

Big data e le sfide per la conoscenza

Massimo Di Felice, Un. de São Paulo USP, Atopos (Brazil)

Il net-attivismo e la crisi dell'idea sociologica del sociale

Hugo Fortes, Un. de São Paulo USP (Brazil)

Visual Arts for Environmental Sustainability Awareness

Giovanna Gianturco, Sapienza University of Rome (Italy)

Migrations and Sustainability

Marina Magalhaes, Un. Nova de Lisboa ICNova, Atopos (Portugal)

Net-activism, digital networks and new forms of conflicts

Claudio Marciano, Un. of the Aosta (Italy)

Fermento. Esperienze di innovazione circolare in Valle d'Aosta

Mariella Nocenzi, Sapienza University of Rome (Italy)

Some remarks for a new sociological theory on sustainability

Michel Puech, Un. Sorbonne (France)

How to make the Homo Sapiens Technologicus sustainable

Eva Rossi, International Finance Corporation, World Bank Group

(Environmental and) Social Impact Assessment for infrastructure projects as instrument for sustainable development

Francisco Rui Cadima, Un. Nova de Lisboa, ICNova (Portugal)

Television, Pluralism and Diversity

Jean Segata, Un. Federal Rio Grande do Sul UFRG (Brazil)

The origins of the sustainability in the indigenous social organizations

Eliete da Silva Pereira, Un. Federal MG, Atopos (Brazil)

Reti digitali e sostenibilità

Sapienza Università di Roma
Dip. di Comunicazione e Ricerca sociale
Via Salaria 113 – 00198 ROMA
www.sostenibilia.net
osservatoriosostenibilia@gmail.com